Blair Cup Remains Here

Coronation Fails Third Time

The Coronation Curlers made a third attempt, last Saturday to lift the Blair Cup from it's resting here in Monitor, but sad to relate they met their fate and returned home without the plate. In a last desperate effort they sent along the cream of the club, and, while they did not lift the mug, they gave us a scare as they were in the lead at the last end when the local bunch laid four and won the match 13-10.

Coronation rink was composed of Northwood, Taylor, McNeil, and Watson skip, while the local stalwarts were Larder, Thompson, Dickson, and Hamer skip.

With prospects of both Consort and Veteran building rinks this year, there will no doubt be a busy season next winter for the Cup.

LIKNESS—OLSON

At Monitor, on Monday, Mar. 31st, Mabel Janet, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Olson, to George J. Liknes, both of Monitor.

BUSY BIDEFORD

We should like to draw our readers attention to the fact that the flu has not yet died out in this province. A letter from the Red Cross headquarters warns us to take every precaution to nip it in the bud and thus prevent the spreading of this truly grave disease. It is our bounden duty to keep our bodies in the highest state of health and to follow the rules of good living which lead to the maximum of real physical efficiency. This will not safeguard anyone from an attack, of course, but it reduces your chances of taking it, and if you do unluckily catch it you will be in the best possible condition to make a good recovery. An eminent Scotch physician's advice is, active outdoor excerise, simple and nourishing food, avoid all close and stuffy places no alcoholic drinks, regulation of the bowels, and the stimulus of recreation and mental enjoyment and lastly, no quack medicines.

If any reader knows of any flu case in or near this town kindly communicate at once with the Bideford Red Cross so that prompt measures be taken to ensure the patients' comfort and safety. We trust however to maintain our clean bill of health which is, we think, a record amongst towns on this line.

Mr. Gray, School Inspector, visited us recently and reported all O. K.

Mr. Brooks and the little ones returned this week. Everyone felt exceedingly sorry for the wee children who so recently lost their best friend on earth. Mr. Brooks is visiting at the Townsend's.

Ladies, make note of April 12th and turn up in full force to Mrs. N. D. Robinson's where Mrs. McLeod will give an interesting talk an "A Sporting time in Calgary" with descriptive sketches of the W. I. lectures.

The Stork flew away from Bideford singing "au revoir but not goodbye." Our little town is certainly doing its duty in combating that modern bogie man, called the declining birth-rate. "Better Babies and more of 'em" is the slogan in Busy B.

Thank you, Spring Onions, for your poem, we fear it was a little too strong to print.

A certain bachelor was holding forth on babies, in the Store last week, and we were delighted to find this young man has been reading up the subject on how to handle the cross child, were to put 'em when you want to go out up town, etc. Doubtless Mr. Harry believes in the Boy Scout motto "Be prepared" and is learning his lessons preparatory to entering the school of Matrimony. In spite of the weather, old age and poverty, Harry says he feels fit as a fiddle.

The best announcement comes last, it is that the Bideford Booster (as the Newsman was called by a traveller on the Calgary trip) is out looking for subs and renewals for the News. Be a Sport and send in your sub to the Stores, $1 per annum keeps you in touch with "yer ain fowk in yer ain toon."

A U. F. A meeting was held in the Schoolhouse to discuss Rural Mail Delivery. There was a large attendance and a resolution was passed asking the Post Office Inspector to get busy on the job.

The next meeting will be held on April 12th.

Whitton Wheezes

John L. McAulay is home from Halburg, B. C., where he was working in the woods since December. He thoroughly enjoyed the fine mild winter and looks hale and hearty. Bert Smith is still at Halburg but is expected home in a few days.

We are glad to see the hills getting bare as the feed is getting short in this district.

Mrs. Alex Campbell is confined to her home, owing to an attack of the flu.

We are pleased to see Johnnie Cameron is home from the front again, safe and sound. He intends working his farm this year himself.

Mrs. W. H. Miller, of Vegreville, was called home, by wire, last week while visiting with her parents here.

The funeral of John Campbell was held at Consort, last week. The remains of John McLeod being shipped to Springhill, Que., for burial.

For the third time in one week has the Grim Reaper appeared at the home of Alex and Mrs. Campbell. Their youngest son, Murdo, aged 19, passed away early on Sunday after an attack of the flu.

The fulliest sympathy of the whole district is extended to the sorrowing family.

Note and Comment

Wild western war-whoops which were raised in Alberta last week in sufficient volume to reach even to Ottawa, resulted in the government announcing that the free-freight concessions which it was announced last week was taken off had been resumed and would be effective on applications received up to April 10 and on shipments which were at point of shipment by April 30.

It is pleasing news to be able to give out. It the concession had not been granted again it would have meant a very serious loss to farmers and stockmen who had been carefully feeding what little hay they had and were waiting until the spring to get enough to carry them through. Those who had been buying feeder steers and were arranging for hay to carry them until grass-time, were threatened with ruin if they had to pay full freight on the feed they required.
—Market Examiner.

The milk of human kindness would be a good deal richer if it weren't skimmed so often.

Considerable blackleg is prevalent among cattle of the province at the present time and the department of agriculture is sending out notices to be posted throughout the country warning the farmers and telling them of the symptoms, etc.

The disease is described as a germ disease of the most pronounced type. The cattle lose their appetite and become listless, they also develop lameness.

The only reliable preventive agent is vaccination with blackleg vaccine, injected beneath the skin behind the shoulder or on the side of the neck.

His Gift

"Give till it hurts!" the slogan said.
Old Moneybags looked grim.
For wants of others, as a rule,
Did not appeal to him.
"Give till it hurts!" he read again,
And the appeal seemed droll;
He could not do a generous act
To save his stingy soul.

"Give till it hurts!" he turned away,
Unmoved by the appeal,
As if no misery could touch
His hardened heart of steel.
"Give till it hurts!" And then at last,
With pitiful laments
To show how much the giving hurt,
He gave just fifty cents!
—Somnerville Journal.

Potatoes are an important part of the farmer's living. Next, perhaps, to flour, the housewife finds them the most difficult staple to substitute. Yet thousands of families are limited in their supply from complete or partial failure of the crop. There is reason to believe that failures would be much less frequent, yields higher and quality better if a larger acreage were planted earlier than is the custom. Many in Northern regions have found that the few rows put in early for summer use have yielded satisfactorily when the bulk of the crop, planted late in May, produced a low yield of small, immature, watery tubers whose development had been arrested by late August or early Sept. frosts. There may be an occasional season when the very early plantings will be injured by unfavosable conditions in May or by an exceptional severe June frost. It is not well to put all the eggs (or potatoes) in one basket. It has been found, though, that even when the early plantings are frozen back two or three times they usually give the best returns. Of course a good deal will depend upon the severity of the frost and the stage of development in which it catches the vines. It is believed, however, that in the regions of short summers the prudent plan is to use an early variety and then plant the bulk of the crop in the fore part of May, with a few rows later by way of a second string to the bow. It will usually pay better to take half a day off from grain seeding to plant a few potatoes in early May than to plant a larger area after the grain is all sown.

That Blair Cup

After J. E. Bonsall had taken a rink to Monitor and failed to bring back the Blair Cup by one point, Geo Dillion decided that it was up to him to go down and show the Monitor boys that we really intended to take that Cup away from them. Hence it happened that George with brother Frank, J. C. Calder and E. R. Haney marched into Monitor expecting to get the Cup for the asking. Well, we hate to tell it, but George got absolutely hornswoggled, and if we remember rightly the score was 17—8. They had no excuses to offer.
